Exhibitors acknowledged internationality and sustainability

"We first joined Yarn Expo in 2023 and saw significant benefits, prompting us to return this year with a larger booth. This year, the fair has attracted many international visitors. We aim to connect with suppliers, buyers, and partners who are interested in green products and we have met international and Chinese customers who share this interest. The concurrent fairs are an excellent opportunity to promote our yarns and gather market insights, as it brings together the entire value chain."

Visitors appreciated comprehensive and sustainable offerings

"I came to explore specialty yarns, polyester yarns, and more, and I have found good collections and valuable contacts here, also discovering new products and technologies which I have not seen before. Yarn Expo is also doing a great job promoting sustainability. I took some samples of a Chinese yarn made from seaweed today, which I plan to buy when I return to India. The fair's fringe events, such as the trend forum, are beneficial to us as visitors."
